Requirements for DH (if used, must bat for pitcher)

1. DH listed on lineup card must bat once unless opposing manager changes pitcher or the DH is injured or becomes ill. Starting pitcher cannot bat in DH slot before the DH completes an at bat.
2. DH slot cannot shift within the batting order.
3. DH cannot pinch run or pinch hit for another player.
4. Game pitcher can pinch hit or pinch run only for DH.
5. Replaced DH may not re-enter the game.
6. Game pitcher is not locked into any batting order position.

A pinch runner or pinch hitter for the DH becomes the DH.

DH is Terminated when:

1. The DH goes to a defensive position.
2. Game pitcher goes to another defensive position and another player comes in to pitch.
3. A player already in the lineup comes in to pitch; substitute defensive player must occupy the DH spot in the lineup.
4. Game pitcher pinch runs or pinch hits for DH.
5. Pinch hitter bats for any player in batting order and then enters the game to pitch.

LINEUP

1. Arnold – 9
2. Byrd – 4
3. Cone – 8
4. Davis – 2
5. Eddy – DH Jones - 1
6. Ford – 3
7. Green – 7
8. Hall – 5
9. Ivy – 6

Substitutes

Kelly, Lee, Miles

Examples;

1. Davis is injured and replaced on defense by Eddy; DH is terminated; Jones bats in 4th spot. Manager could make multiple substitutions and designate batting order spots. See 2
2. Davis is injured and replaced on defense by Eddy; DH is terminated; Jones goes into LF and Lee comes into pitch. Result of multiple substitution is that manager can designate whether Jones and Lee will bat in the 4th or 7th spot. Eddy goes into catch and remains in the 5th spot – DH slot in the order.
3. Kelly is the reliever and Jones goes into play LF for Green; Kelly bats in Eddy's spot and Jones hits in Green's spot.
4. Arnold comes in to relieve Jones; Jones stays in game in RF; Arnold continues to hit in 1st spot, Jones hits in 5th spot and DH is terminated.
5. Cone is reliever for Jones and Lee goes into CF; DH is terminated; Lee hits in 5th slot for Eddy.
6. Kelly relieves Jones in the 4th inning and bats for Eddy in the 5th inning – loss of DH.
